Afternoon Tea Menu

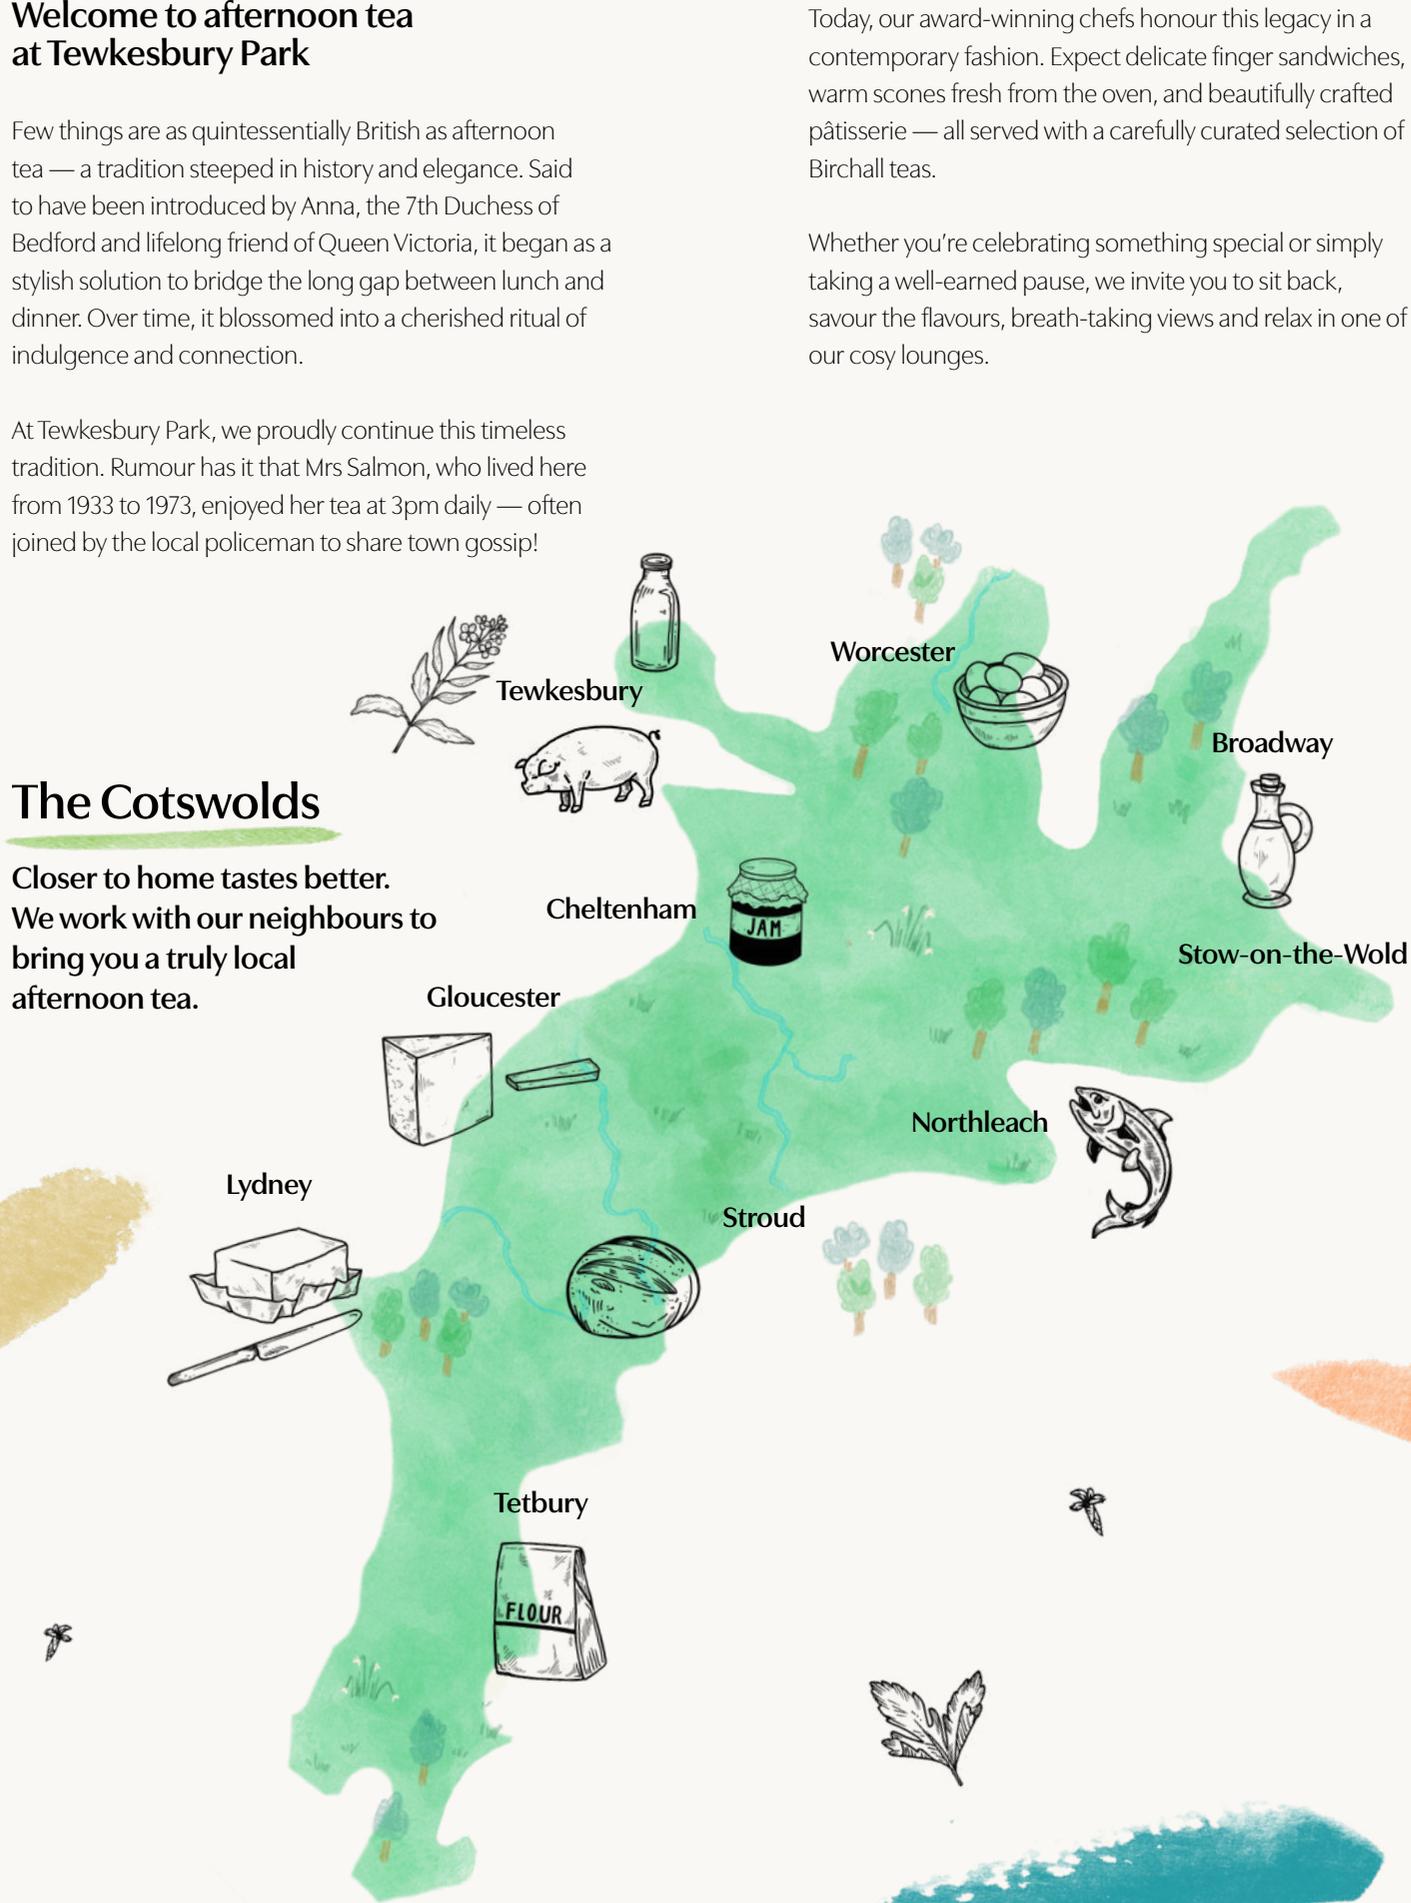

Welcome to afternoon tea at Tewkesbury Park

Few things are as quintessentially British as afternoon tea — a tradition steeped in history and elegance. Said to have been introduced by Anna, the 7th Duchess of Bedford and lifelong friend of Queen Victoria, it began as a stylish solution to bridge the long gap between lunch and dinner. Over time, it blossomed into a cherished ritual of indulgence and connection.

At Tewkesbury Park, we proudly continue this timeless tradition. Rumour has it that Mrs Salmon, who lived here from 1933 to 1973, enjoyed her tea at 3pm daily — often joined by the local policeman to share town gossip!

The Cotswolds

Closer to home tastes better. We work with our neighbours to bring you a truly local afternoon tea.

Today, our award-winning chefs honour this legacy in a contemporary fashion. Expect delicate finger sandwiches, warm scones fresh from the oven, and beautifully crafted pâtisserie — all served with a carefully curated selection of Birchall teas.

Whether you're celebrating something special or simply taking a well-earned pause, we invite you to sit back, savour the flavours, breath-taking views and relax in one of our cosy lounges.

Birchall Teas

At the heart of our afternoon tea offering is Birchall – family-owned, award-winning tea specialist with a rich heritage and a passion for crafting exceptional blends. Sourced from high-altitude tea gardens across East Africa, each leaf is hand-picked for its quality and flavour. The result? Bright, full-bodied black teas and beautifully balanced fruit and herbal infusions, all bursting with character.

From classic brews to vibrant new blends, every cup is a celebration of quality, care and craft.

We serve our afternoon tea with a glass of English sparkling Hattingley Valley Rosé priced at £38 per person

Additional glass of English sparkling Hattingley Valley Rosé £9.00

If you'd prefer not to indulge in the bubbles, then enjoy a traditional afternoon tea for £30 per person.
